

Civilian Casualties in Turkish attacks on the Kurdistan Region of Iraq

Since 2015, under the pretext of fighting the Kurdistan Workers' Party (PKK), Turkey's attacks on the Kurdistan Region of Iraq resulted in the death of 110 civilians and the injury of 186. The following research uses reports from news media to show the impact on civilians of the Turkish Armed Forces' repeated attacks throughout the Kurdistan Region, including disputed territories. Due to difficulties in reporting on these attacks, the actual numbers of civilians killed and wounded may be higher.
